THE long drawn out case against Judge R. J. Brecklnridge for balance due the Knighte of Honor, while he was treasurer, came to an end in a compromise effected after it had gone to trial in the U.S. Conrt at Louisville, Tuesday, the judge agreeing to pay, and did pay, $25,000 in full of ail demands. In accepting the compromise Judge Jackson said he was "perfectly satisfied upon the proof developed that there is nothing morally wrong in Judge Breckinridge's conduct in this matter, that he has been guilty of no intentional wrong. He has, perhaps, been unfortunate in having had clerks and employes who did not manage the business with accuracy, and through whose conduct mletakes have crept into his accounts." The clerk referred to seems to have been young Bob Breckinridge, his son, who on his examination failed to expiain certain erasures and errors. The generals. He is a rallroad auperintendent and has served two terms in the New Jersey Legislature, where he was the recognized democratic leader, and was for several years a member of the Democratic State Central Committee.

In an article in a London paper on Gen. Robt. E. Lee, Lord Wolseiey pays that distinguished Confederate officer the highest tribute to his personal character and military genine. Says he: "If he had not been controlled by the political leaders of the Confederacy Gen. Lee would have captured Washington after the battle of Bull Run; He was the greatest American of the century, and is worthy of an equal pedestal with Washington among the world's greatest man of a State celebrated for chivalry. The Business Manager on His Travels.

LONDON, KY., March 2. - A person who has made a trip through this part of Kentucky, 1 mean from Livingston to Jellico, in a stage or jolt wagon, over the terrible mountain roads, before the L. & N. extension was built, appreciates the advantage of a railroad. Four years ago it would have taken me three whole days to have come from Stanford to London, while on yesterday it took only two hours and about one. teuth of the cost of former times. Besides the repidity and convenience of travel it built towns ranging in population from 500 to 3,000 every ten or twenty miles along the line: Who would have thought tive years ago that Eistern Kentucky would $200,000 and against his securities for $150, lieved that In that short while London and Williamsburg would have grown from towns of 500 and 300 to cities of 1,500 and pecially have enjoyed a steady boom since the extension. -James Rose, charged with outraging hala Burneide, colored, was tried Judge Walker Wednesday, who held him Miller, $25; B. C. Warren, $25; W. H. Hilggins, over till circuit court in a bond of $250. Huffman, $25; Hugh Reld, $25; D. R. Carpenter, $25; The amount of the bond seems small, but S. R. and L. J. Cook, $100; W. H. Dudderer, $25; when it is considered that Rose could no! Lewis Duddersr $500; Samuel Duddersr $400; C. furnish bail amounting to 50 cents, it will be seen that this is amply sufficient to hold him. The case against the prisoner is a clear one and will send him to the penitertiary for a number of years, if it does not hang him. This Rose is a bad character and being in court is nothing new or novel to him. He was sentenced to the work. honse for a long time about two years ago for some offense, but made good his escape a few hours after his incarceration. Nothing more was seen of him until recently. On the night the rape was committed on the woman he forced an entrance into a school-house, where he accomplished his fiendish purpose.

Writing of his experience in a barber shop at Ashville, N. C., Bill Nye says of the operator, Plum Levy, a gentle man of color: "He picked out a razor with a white handle, such as agricultural papers offer to boye for one new name, and he mowed around over my fluffy cheek, turned my head over so that the midday aun could shine iuto my works, until I mouned in a low key in spite of myself Oh, how I wanted to go home! How I beg ged to see my family once more! How I told Mr. Levy that I knew I had done wrong, and that I had written things about the southern climate that were too severe, and that if I had my life to live over again I would not do so: but, oh, would be not give me one more chance to reform? Would he not let me look once more upon the fa ces of my wife and children before he cut up the other side of my nack? At last he relented and I went to the office of a phyeician. My friends who recommended Mr. Inyert, B. F., 51 ecres on Green River, '83, '81, '81 Levy now get out of it by stating that they supposed . I wanted my hair cut. They eay they never claimed that Plum Lavy could shave for sour apples, but he can just more than cut hair."-[Boston Globe.
